NEW YORK CONFERENCE
Social Justice & the U.S. Election
October 21-22, 2016
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 2016

Location: The New School (University Center, 63 Fifth Avenue, New York City)

6:00 – 6:30 p.m.
Opening Remarks
Gustavo Rivera (New York State Senator, 33rd District – the Bronx)
Judith S. Goldstein (Founder and Executive Director, Humanity in Action)

6:30 – 7:30 p.m.
Keynote: “Racial Justice and the Right to Vote in 2016”
Cornell Brooks (President and CEO, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People – NAACP)

Location: Tortaria (94 University Place, New York City)

8:00 – 9:30 p.m.
Evening Drinks
Cash bar

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 2016

Location: The New School (University Center, 63 Fifth Avenue, New York City)

10:00 – 10:30 a.m.
Registration and Coffee
10:30 – 10:40 a.m.
Welcoming Remarks
Anthony Chase (Director of Programs, Humanity in Action)
Michael Schober (Professor and Associate Provost for Research, The New School)

10:40 – 11:00 a.m.
“Hope and the Seeds of Democracy”
Judith S. Goldstein (Founder and Executive Director, Humanity in Action)

11:00 – 12:15 p.m.
Keynote: “15 Years After 9/11 – What Have We Learned About Terror and Liberty?”
Karen J. Greenberg (Director, Center on National Security, Fordham University)

12:15 – 1:30 p.m.
Lunch with Eat Offbeat

1:30 – 4:00 p.m.
Breakout Sessions I

1. City Tour: “Inequality and Occupy Wall Street”
   (Financial District)
   Michael Pellagatti (Occupy activist and educator)

2. Site Visit: “Reflections on 9/11 and the Memorial”
   (Financial District)
   Joe Delaney (Director, Deloitte)

3. City Tour: “Stonewall and the LGBT Rights Movement in New York City” (Greenwich Village)
   Rick Landman (New York Law School)

4. City Tour: “Rising Sea Levels in New York – Climate Change and Resiliency Planning”
   Richard Reiss (Founder, City Atlas) with Philip Kahn, Angie Koo and Marlyn Martinez

5. City Tour: “Rhetoric and Restriction: The History of Immigration in New York” (Lower East Side)
   Anna Duensing (Yale University; Tenement Museum; Humanity in Action Senior Fellow)

6. Workshop: “How To Make the Ask – Fundraising and Development with Humanity in Action Board Members”
   Marnie Imhoff (Vice-President of Development, The Rockefeller University)
   Brian Stout (Senior Strategy Consultant, Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation)

7. “Drug Policy and The War on Drugs: Race, Class and the Politics of Mass-Criminalization”
   Kassandra Frederique (State Director - New York, Drug Policy Alliance)

4:00 – 4:30 p.m.
Break
4:30 – 6:00 p.m.

Breakout Sessions II

1. Panel: “Rethinking Poverty and Opportunity in the United States”
   - Darrick Hamilton (Associate Professor of Economics and Urban Policy, The New School)
   - Clara Chow (Director of Strategy, Jackson Hewitt; Humanity in Action Senior Fellow)
   - Jesse Myerson (Journalist, Jacobin and Rolling Stone)
   - Moderator: Robert Friedman (Senior Editor, Bloomberg News; Humanity in Action American Planning Board Member)

2. “Behind the Scene 2016: Campaigning with Hillary for America, the NAACP and MoveOn.org”
   - Danielle Goonan (Senior Manager II, Grant Portfolios, Walmart Foundation; Organizer, Hillary For America; Humanity in Action Senior Fellow)
   - Devon Crawford (NAACP-Humanity in Action Fellow; Humanity in Action Senior Fellow)
   - Justin Krebs (Campaign Director, MoveOn.org; Founder, Living Liberally; Board Member, Humanity in Action)

   - Jimmy LaSalvia (Co-founder and former Executive Director of GOProud)

   - Ron Chernow (Pulitzer Prize-winning historian; Board Member, Humanity in Action)

5. “Undocumented Migration and the Humanitarian Crisis on the U.S.-Mexico Border”
   - Chelsea Halstead (Deputy Director, Colibrí Center for Human Rights; Humanity in Action Senior Fellow)

6. “Gun Violence and Reform in America's Cities”
   - Isaac Bloom (National Organizing Director, Everytown for Gun Safety)

6:00 – 6:30 p.m.

Closing Remarks

- Judith S. Goldstein (Founder and Executive Director, Humanity in Action)

Location: San Marino Restaurant (66 Charlton Street, New York City)

Fellow and Senior Fellow Reunion Dinner

- 7:00 – 7:30 p.m.
  - Welcome Drinks

- 7:30 – 9:00 p.m.
  - Dinner
Keynote Speakers

Cornell W. Brooks
Cornell William Brooks is President and CEO of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the nation’s oldest, largest, and most widely respected grassroots-based civil rights organization. Prior to joining the NAACP, Brooks led the Newark-based New Jersey Institute for Social Justice as President and CEO, and served as Senior Counsel with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), working on legal and policy matters promoting small business and media ownership diversity. His civil rights experience also includes serving as Executive Director of the Fair Housing Council of Greater Washington and as trial attorney with the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law. As a civil rights attorney, social justice advocate, fourth generation ordained minister and coalition builder, Brooks’ life and experience exemplify the NAACP’s mission to secure political, educational, social, and economic equality for all citizens.

Judith S. Goldstein
Judith S. Goldstein founded Humanity in Action in 1997 and has served as its Executive Director ever since. Under Judith’s leadership, Humanity in Action has organized educational programs on international affairs, diversity and human rights in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Poland, the Netherlands and the United States. She received her Ph.D. in history from Columbia University and was a Woodrow Wilson Scholar for her MA studies. Judith has written several books and articles about European and American history, art and landscape architecture. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and several boards and advisory groups.

Karen J. Greenberg
Karen J. Greenberg is the Director of the Center on National Security, and a noted expert on national security, terrorism, and civil liberties. She is the author most recently of Rogue Justice: The Making of the Security State. She is also the author of The Least Worst Place: Guantanamo’s First 100 Days (2009), which was selected as one of the best books of 2009 by The Washington Post and Slate.com. She is co-editor with Joshua L. Dratel of The Enemy Combatant Papers: American Justice, the Courts, and the War on Terror (2008) and The Torture Papers: The Road to Abu Ghraib (2005); editor of the books The Torture Debate in America (2006) and Al Qaeda Now (2005); and editor of the Terrorist Trial Report Card, 2001–2011. Her work has been featured in The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Los Angeles Times, The San Francisco Chronicle, The Nation, The National Interest, Mother Jones, TomDispatch.com, and on major news channels. She is a permanent member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

Gustavo Rivera
Gustavo Rivera was elected to represent District 33 in the New York State Senate in November of 2010. The 33rd Senate District extends from the Northwest Bronx to areas of the East Bronx and includes the following neighborhoods: Kingsbridge Heights, East Tremont, Crotona Park, Fordham, Belmont, Van Nest, Claremont, High Bridge and Morris Park. Senator Rivera is dedicated to changing the way business is done in the legislature for the better and is committed to making sure that the families of the 33rd Senate District have a voice in Albany. Since he took office in 2011, Senator Rivera has been focused on addressing issues of health inequity, as well as promoting better nutrition and exercise habits through his initiative, Bronx CAN. In January 2013, Senator Rivera was named the ranking member of the New York Senate’s Health Committee. Senator Rivera was a fellow in Humanity in Action’s 2009 program “Pioneers.”

Isaac Bloom
Isaac Bloom is the National Organizing Director with Everytown for Gun Safety and Moms Demand Action for Gun Sense, working with the organizing team to plan and drive campaigns around changing legislation, electoral work, and educating the public to change our culture. He comes from a background of fifteen years of organizing with state and federal level environmental and good government groups, as well as electoral and voter registration work. Originally from Cleveland, Isaac enjoys running, cooking, biking, good books, and now resides in Washington DC with his wife and very small, determined daughter.

Anthony Chase
Anthony Chase serves as Director of Programs at Humanity in Action where he focuses on organizational strategy and program development. Anthony and Judith Goldstein developed the Diplomacy and Diversity Fellowship from a nascent idea into a multinational educational initiative that has engaged nearly 400 emerging and established foreign policy experts in seven cities. When he joined the staff in 2013 as a Program Coordinator, Anthony produced a program in Cairo and New York on human rights and politics in Egypt since the revolution. He previously worked for Libraries Without Borders in Paris and is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (France 2011).

Ron Chernow
A graduate of Yale and Cambridge, Ron Chernow is the author of many award-winning, best-selling biographies. He has won the two most prestigious literary prizes in the United States: the Pulitzer Prize for Biography for Washington: A Life and the National Book Award for Non-Fiction for The House of Morgan. His biographies of John D. Rockefeller and Alexander Hamilton were both finalists for the National Book Critics Circle Award. His biography of Alexander Hamilton was adapted into the Tony award-winning musical Hamilton for which Chernow served as a historical consultant. He is a former president of PEN American Center, the main book writers organization in the U.S., a Humanity in Action Board Member and the recipient of six honorary doctorates for his work. Chernow was recently awarded the National Humanities Medal by President Barack Obama.

Clara Chow
Clara Chow is the Director of Strategy at Jackson Hewitt, a leading national tax company with 25+ years of history and over 6,000 offices across all 50 states. In her role, Clara furthers Jackson Hewitt’s mission to Work Hard for the Hardest Working by designing new products and services that will build the financial health and help secure the future of 2 million low- to mid-income clients. Outside of Jackson Hewitt, Clara chairs the Board of Generation Enterprise, a venture development studio that launches and scales Social Mobility Enterprises (SMEs) in the slums of Lagos, Nigeria. These SMEs train unemployed and homeless youth, giving them a path out of poverty and into management of worker-owned community businesses. Previously, she worked at McKinsey & Company, Hearst Innovation and the New York City Economic Development Corporation. She is an alumna of Wharton and the Stanford GSB and is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (Netherlands 2007).

Devon Jerome Crawford
Devon Jerome Crawford is a 2015 Cum Laude graduate of Morehouse College. As a ministerial leader, Devon has provided public leadership in the cases of Troy Davis, Trayvon Martin and Michael Brown. Devon has also served as president of the Martin Luther King Jr. International Chapel Assistants Program; vice president of the Alpha Rho chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.; 2014 College Brother of the Year for the Georgia district of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.; a Congressional Black Caucus Foundation Intern; and the 2015 Martin Luther King Jr. Scholar. Devon is currently enrolled at the University of Chicago Divinity School. Devon was recently awarded the NAACP-Humanity in Action Fellowship.

Anna Duensing
Anna Duensing is a doctoral student in History and African American Studies at Yale University. She has also worked as an educator at the Lower East Side Tenement Museum since 2011. Her research lies in twentieth century cultural history, focusing on Jim Crow, the military, and the long civil rights movement, immigration and Black-Jewish relations, and comparative race and diaspora with a focus on Germany. In addition to her time with the Tenement Museum, Anna has worked at the National September 11 Memorial and Museum, the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, and the German-American Institute in Heidelberg, Germany. Anna is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (Poland 2012).

Kassandra Frederique
Kassandra Frederique is New York State Director at the Drug Policy Alliance (DPA). In addition to working towards harm-reduction policies associated with drug use, Frederique works with communities throughout New York to address and resolve the collateral consequences of the War on Drugs – state violence. As a co-author of Blueprint for a Public Health and Safety Approach to Drug Policy and as technical advisor to Ithaca Mayor Svante Myrick’s “The Ithaca Plan,” Frederique develops municipal strategies to foster healthier and safer communities by cultivating and mobilizing powerful community coalitions. A native New Yorker, Frederique holds a M.S. in Social Work from Columbia University and earned a B.S. in Industrial Labor Relations at Cornell University.

Robert Friedman
Robert Friedman is a Senior Editor at Bloomberg News where he focuses on global financial and business news.
Prior to Bloomberg, he was the International Editor of Fortune, overseeing the magazine’s Europe and Asia editions and its global business coverage. Robert was an assistant managing editor at Life; special projects editor at New York Newsday; editor of the Village Voice; a staff reporter at The Wall Street Journal; and a freelance writer for Esquire, Inside Sports, Rolling Stone and other magazines. Robert serves on Humanity in Action’s American Planning Board and has interviewed candidates for the Humanity in Action Fellowship for many years.

Danielle Goonan

Danielle Goonan is a Senior Manager II on the Opportunity team at the Walmart Foundation where she is responsible for investments in retail training worldwide. Most recently, Danielle was an appointee of the Obama Administration where she led strategic partnerships for the Office of Career, Technical, and Adult Education. In this role, she worked with stakeholders in the corporate, labor and philanthropic sectors on behalf of the US Department of Education. Previously, Danielle led the Clinton Global Initiative’s domestic education and skills development team with responsibilities that included managing the CGI U.S. Youth Employment Action Network in partnership with the Office of Secretary Clinton’s JobOne program, overseeing the strategy of CGI America’s education and skills Working Groups, and leading the growth of the workforce development portfolio of Commitments to Action. Danielle is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow and currently sits on the American Planning Board, and was a Fulbright Scholar to Italy.

Chelsea Halstead

Chelsea Halstead is the Deputy Director at the Colibrí Center for Human Rights, an organization working to end migrant death and related suffering on the U.S.-Mexico border. Chelsea has worked on the issue of migrant death and disappearance since 2012, first on a Department of Justice funded study and later as a founding team member of Colibrí in 2013. Her work is focused on facilitating the identification of human remains through partnerships between with families searching for missing loved ones and forensic scientists working to identify the deceased on the US Mexico border. Chelsea is a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow (Germany 2013)

Darrick Hamilton

Darrick Hamilton is the director of the doctoral program in public and urban policy and associate professor of economics and urban policy at The Milano School of International Affairs, Management and Urban Policy and the Department of Economics, The New School for Social Research at The New School. Professor Hamilton is a stratification economist, whose work fuses scientific methods to examine the causes, consequences and remedies of racial and ethnic inequality in economic and health outcomes, which includes an examination of the intersection of identity, racism, colorism, and socioeconomic outcomes. He is a faculty research fellow at the Schwartz Center for Economic Policy Analysis at The New School; the president of the National Economic Association (NEA); co-associate director of the Cook Center on Social Equity; and co-associate director of the Diversity Initiative for Tenure in Economics Program.

Maren E. Imhoff

Marnie Imhoff is Senior Vice President for Development at The Rockefeller University. Prior to Rockefeller, she worked at Union Theological Seminary as Associate Director of Development. Marnie received a B.A. in history from Dickinson College in 1977, and went on to study religion and philosophy at Andover Newton Theological School. She is a graduate of “Leadership New York,” a civic program sponsored by the Coro Foundation and The New York City Partnership, and has served for six years on the Board of Trustees and Executive Committee of The New York Academy of Sciences. At present, she sits on the Board of Humanity in Action.
Philip Kahn
Philip Kahn received a Ph.D. in Atmospheric Science from the University of Washington, and subsequently ran his family’s textile business while studying renewable energy and policy on climate change. In 2013 he joined Citizens’ Climate Lobby (citizensclimatelobby.org) a volunteer group dedicated to putting a national price on carbon pollution, and completed Al Gore’s Reality Project training for climate outreach. Philip serves as co-leader of the NYC chapter of CCL, where in addition to working towards CCL’s primary goal of enacting federal carbon pricing legislation, the volunteers lobby Albany legislators in the pursuit of statewide action on climate mitigation and carbon pricing.

Angie Koo
Angie Koo is a graduate of Bryn Mawr College where she studied Growth and Structure of Cities and Environmental Studies, with a focus on Japan’s 2011 disaster and nuclear energy system. Since returning to New York City in 2015, Angie has been interested in how the city’s policy makers react and adapt to climate change impacts. At City Atlas, she interviews local leaders and climate change activists, writes about the city’s sustainability efforts, and helps produce its newsletter. She also works at the Foundation Center, assisting with data analysis and provision to advance knowledge in the philanthropy sector.

Justin Krebs
Justin Krebs is a political strategist, entrepreneur and author based in New York City. Justin is the founder and National Director of Living Liberally, the network of over 200 progressive social communities. Through its Drinking Liberally happy hours, Laughing Liberally comedy events, Screening Liberally film series and other programs, Living Liberally provides liberals around the country with political homes in big cities and small towns. Justin is also a founder of The Tank, an 11-year- old nonprofit home for performing arts and emerging artists in Manhattan. Justin is a campaign director at MoveOn.org and is a board member of Humanity in Action.

Rick Landman
A son of German Jewish refugees, Rick Landman began to come out in 1965 at the age of twelve. In 1970, Landman started the “Gay Liberation Front” at his college and was an organizer for the First March on Albany for Gay Rights (1971) and the First March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights (1979). In 1990, he started the International Association of Lesbian and Gay Children of Holocaust Survivors and fought to have the NYC Holocaust Memorial Park inscribe five commemorative markers for the Other Victims of the Nazi era. Landman is an Attorney Emeritus, having taught at both NYU and New York Law School.

Jimmy LaSalvia
Jimmy LaSalvia is a politically independent strategist, speaker, and author of his memoir, No Hope: Why I Left the GOP (and You Should Too), published in 2015. A former Republican activist, Jimmy left the GOP in 2014. Prior to leaving the party, he was the founder and executive director of GOProud, which was a national organization for gay conservatives and their allies. Now as an independent, Jimmy focuses much of his work on opening and reforming the country’s two-party political system, so that voters have more choices. He is a native of Kentucky.

Marlyn Martínez
Marlyn Martínez, an industrial designer from Puerto Rico, is a Design for Social Innovation MFA candidate at the School of Visual Arts in NYC. Marlyn is researching sea level rise and how it affects residents of the Rockaways, a beach town in NYC that is still picking up the pieces after being hit by Hurricane Sandy. In a location affected by multiple social problems that only get exacerbated by climate change and limited governmental support, her goal is to help this community develop their own interventions and solutions for adaptation and survival. She also interns at City Atlas, where she writes and shares information about actions that will make this a more sustainable city.
Jesse Myerson
Jesse A. Myerson is a writer and activist whose work on economic justice, land policy, and structural racism has appeared in Rolling Stone, The Nation, The Village Voice, and elsewhere. His organizing has ranged from the anti-austerity street-performance group US Uncut to Occupy Wall Street to radical policy outfit Grasping At The Root. He is the author of Onward: An Occupier’s Guide to Understanding the Current Crisis.

Michael Pellagatti
At 29 years of age, self styled as a “Rouge Scholar,” Michael was among the nucleus of the original group of activists that launched Occupy Wall Street in 2011. He is a licensed New York City tour guide who has been covered by AM New York, The Daily News and The New York Times. He has conducted excursions for prestigious academic institutions such as Yale University, Columbia University and the University of London-Royal Holloway. In his spare time Michael likes to go hiking in the woods and visit Hawaii.

Richard Reiss
Richard Reiss has had a front row seat to the discussion of climate in New York City in five years as co-founder of newyork.thecityatlas.org, a media project about the future of the city. City Atlas is based at CUNY and was launched with support from the Rockefeller Foundation. Before City Atlas, Reiss co-founded artistascitizen.org, a media nonprofit that matches top creative students with projects in the public interest. The first project at Artist As Citizen, created in 2005, featured Wallace Broecker of the Earth Institute, the scientist who coined the phrase ‘global warming’. Reiss was born and raised in Greenwich Village and majored in architecture at Yale.

Michael Schober
Michael Schober is a Professor of Psychology and Vice Provost for Research at The New School. Michael served as the Dean of The New School for Social Research from 2006 to 2013 and has taught courses in psycholinguistics, human-computer interaction, research methods, data visualization, and the psychology of music. He was editor of the multidisciplinary journal Discourse Processes from 2005-15 and is the recipient of the Warren J. Mitofsky Innovators Award from the American Association for Public Opinion Research. He received a doctorate in cognitive psychology from Stanford University.

Brian Stout
Brian Stout is a strategy and policy expert, focusing on poverty reduction and economic opportunity. He has experience in the nonprofit, public, and philanthropic sectors, including recent work with the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the U.S. Agency for International Development. His background includes stints at the United Nations, the U.S. State Department and international nonprofit Facing History and Ourselves, as well as a BA from Amherst College and a MA from Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies. He and his wife Jennifer and daughter Viviana enjoy international travel and outdoor adventures. Brian participated in the Humanity in Action Fellowship in Copenhagen in 2004 and is a member of the Board of Directors.
The New School
Founded in 1919, The New School was born out of principles of academic freedom, tolerance, and experimentation. Committed to social engagement, The New School today remains in the vanguard of innovation in higher education, with more than 10,000 undergraduate and graduate students challenging the status quo in design and the social sciences, liberal arts, management, the arts, and media. The New School welcomes thousands of adult learners annually for continuing education courses and a calendar of lectures, screenings, readings, and concerts. Through its online learning portals, research institutes, and international partnerships, The New School maintains a global presence.

Humanity in Action is delighted to partner with The New School on its annual New York Conference and innovative programming in design thinking, executive education and leadership.

NAACP
Founded in 1909, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is the oldest and most recognizable civil rights organization in the United States. Throughout its history, the NAACP has relentlessly fought against violations of civil and human rights. From lynching to segregation, job discrimination to urban poverty, the NAACP has stood steadfast for human rights and justice.

At this time of great political, social and racial tension in the United States, Humanity in Action proud to partner with the NAACP. In 2016, the two organizations established the NAACP-Humanity in Action Fellowship. The fellowship installs a Humanity in Action Senior Fellow in the Baltimore headquarters of the NAACP for one year to conduct high level policy research and advocacy.

Eat Offbeat
Eat Offbeat, the brainchild of co-founders Manal and Wissam Kahi, is a catering company and refugee-run kitchen that offers a taste of authentic ethnic cuisine conceived, prepared and delivered by refugees and asylum-seekers resettled in New York. Developed in partnership with the International Rescue Committee, Eat Offbeat endeavors to transform public perception by highlighting the cultural and economic value refugees contribute to their new communities, while simultaneously supporting the integration and self-sustainability of the city’s refugees through skills training and professional development.

Humanity in Action is thrilled to work with Eat Offbeat to bring foods from Nepal, Iraq, Syria and Eritrea to the conference.

Dopper
Dopper is a Dutch sustainable water bottle company. Dopper wants to live in a world where people are aware of the environment, where we actively reduce single-use plastic waste, and where everyone, close to home and far away, has access to safe and fresh drinking water. We raise consciousness around single-use plastic waste through activations, partnerships, and brand ambassadors; we provide a sustainable design for water bottles — cradle to cradle certified, 100% recyclable, BPA free; and we support clean water programs and scholarships worldwide.

Humanity in Action is excited to introduce Dopper to the network of Fellows and Senior Fellows. Dopper will give out water bottles in Humanity in Action colors at the New York Conference.
Humanity in Action is an international educational organization. We educate, inspire and connect a global network of emerging and established leaders committed to promoting human rights, diversity and active citizenship—in their own communities and around the world. Humanity in Action is headquartered in New York City and operates in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Denmark, Germany, France, the Netherlands and Poland.